THE TIMES.

A. H. CLEMENT Editor

WEDNESDAY. JAN. 2, 1907.

The Democrat who goes into the next Convention, or takes part in the next primary with a mental reservation to "kick" unless his choice is made that of the body with which he associates, should understand that such conduct doesn't differ much from that of the soldier, who deserts his comrades when the battle waxes warm. The man who can successfully defend such action would make an excellent criminal lawyer. Better stay out altogether; it is best to stay out unless all candidates can be represented fairly in the election officers.

Just a short time before his tragic death, president Spencer said in a speech before the Alabama Agricultural Association, "the interest of the railroad and its patrons are identical. One cannot prosper without the other. The railroad must do justice to the people. The people should do justice to the railroad." That's good sense, and though dead let the words still ring in the ears of railroad kings and of the sovereign people. How unlike the senior Vanderbilt who simply said "d—m the people."

The Richmond Times-Dispatch has suggested the propriety of a convention of representative South ern Democrats, to be held in the city of Richmond sometime prior to the meeting of the National Convention in 1908, and the News-Leader endorses the suggestion. So far so good, but will those worthy contemporaries stand by the colors after these bodies have given them to the breeze? To be plain, will they support the nominee if Bryan is the man?

The jim crow law is one of the very best ever enacted by a Virginia legislature. Let it be rigidly enforced at all points as well as on board all cars. No self-respecting negro will object to awaiting with members of his own race and the white man who wants to associate with negroes should'nt make his home in Virginia. The separation on cars is splendid in results. Let the good work expand.

President Roosevelt, family and a few friends have had another good time at their Virginia country home. We are always glad to welcome them, but do wish that on some of his visits Mr. Roosevelt would tell us why he does'nt appoint some southern man a member of his cabinet.

Man constructs his artificial fish and navigates the seas. Why has he never constructed an artificial bird and navigated the air? Ask some recent writer. Give him time and he will get there.

Money is a bandmaid if you know how to use it, a mistress if you do not know.—Horace. And a mistress at whose shrine men bow and worship with Eastern devotion.

It is unique in human history that a man should command the confidence and respect of all the world save and except the members of his own political household.

It is said that living expenses have doubled in 8 years, and yet the TIMES remains at one dollar a year. Pity the poor editor and pay up promptly.

The announcement that M. Tucker will enter the gubernatorial race causes some quickened pulse beats.

Money is like manure, of very little use except it be spread.—Bacon. The miser is an enemy to his kind, the spendthrift to himself.

Next time let Mr. Roosevelt be sure it is a wild turkey before he shoots.

Enonville.

Christmas has come and gone. It brought joy and happiness to some of us and to some grief.

The Christmas tree at Enon, was quite a success.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Allen and children, spent the holidays with parents at Enonville.

Mr. S. E. Dunevant, of Wriston, W. Va., came home to spend Christmas.

Mr. Ivan Price, of Kanawah Falls W. Va., spent Christmas at home.

Miss Nora Price, of Richmond, is at home for a while.

Mr. F. Dowdy and Archer Rush, of Schuyler, were visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Daisy Dunevant, of Richmond, is spending some time at home.

Mr. Evelyn Dowdy is out again. He had the misfortune of having his arm broken on Christmas eve.

Ben Peaks, a colored boy while attending a festival at William Wright's, (col.) was shot by Chas. Brown (col.) He lived a few days. The matter was thoroughly investigated by Squire Moore and found to be accidental.

A happy and prosperous New year to THE TIMES and its readers.

Wert.

The Christmas tree at Concord church on Christmas eve was a success. The Sunday school received a large number of presents and the crowd was treated to apples and candy. Everyone seemed to have a grand time.

The Christmas holidays have passed and nothing more than the usual amount of drunken brawls to celebrate the occasion.

The Rev. Mr. Allison has resigned the pastorate of his churches in Appomattox and Buckingham. An effort is being made by some of his churches to induce him to reconsider this action and remain on the field longer.

Miss Elton Mason, is spending the holidays with Mrs. W N. Morris, of this place.

Mr. Charlie Agee gave the young people a pleasant time on Friday night last. Dancing was freely indulged in until a late hour.

Mr. Davie N. Davidson, of Richmond College is at home spending the holidays.

Wishing THE TIMES a happy New Year, and may it continue to be the people' paper, giving the news without fear or favor, as it has done in the past.

Glenfall.

Christmas week has dawned and ebbed away We have had what is called a green Christmas, that is a soft atmosphere, right much sunshine and an absence of snow and cold bitter wind.

The young people have had their usual allotment of festivities. It is well to have this relaxation. It opens the heart and seems to serve to make all the world kin. Let us hope it has been spent as Christian people should, in memory of our Christ, born in Judea centuries ago on the first Christmas night.

There were social gatherings at the homes of Messrs. Howard and Alonzo Moore. And at Beckham at the home of Mr. E. Moore, and on the River, at Mr. Tom Moore's. The suppers were sumptuous and the amusements innocent. Several of our youths made their first appearance as ladies men. We wish them much success in their new and untried field.

Misses Ida and Neal Jones of the Meadows and Miss Ella Jones of Spout Spring, spent the holidays at the hospitable home of Mr. E. A. Walton.

There was a family reunion at the home of Mr. S. A. Scruggs, on the 25th. The host has now passed his eighty-second mile stone and can look back on an active and useful life.

Mr. L. L. Drinkard has moved to the home of Misses Ida and Neal Jones, having prepared and sold a large crop of tobacco. He has the reputation of being a "a hustler," I am sure he deserves it.

The New Year of 1907 is upon us. How much joy or sorrow it has in store for us, we know not. Having food and raiment let us be content, and contribute as much as is in our power to the happiness of others, thus adding to our own.

I will close by wishing much success to THE TIMES and a happy New Year to its correspondents and numerous readers.

A Thousand Dollars Worth of Good.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel and stones with excruciating pain. I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1000 worth of good."

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

Do you know that Rheumatic pains can be relieved? If you doubt this just try one application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will make rest and sleep possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism. J. R. Atwood, Appomattox; R. J. Carter, Prospect; E. J. Glover, Evergreen.

WHY A FARMER SHOULD KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT.

Farmers as a rule do not keep books of accounts. Their accounts therefore, on the ledger of a bank will afford them a complete record of all their important transactions, involving the payment or receipt of money. A cancelled check, when returned by the bank, at the end of the month, constitutes the safest receipt one can have for showing the payment of money. Paying a laborer, a store account, or any other bills, with a check drawn on a bank, is safer than using money; because the person receiving the check must endorse it and the check should be preserved as a receipt.

Money deposited in a bank is not so easily or so often "flooled away" as when carried a day in ones pocket. Try the experiment for one year of keeping a bank account and see if it does not pay you.

A large number of the most reliable farmers, in this section, have accounts with us. We are very desirous of having the accounts of farmers on our books an we will be glad to furnish, at any time whatever information we can in regard to the subject of banking.

The persons who open accounts with us we furnish check books free of cost.

MARRIED.

COLEMAN—WARREN.

There was a quiet, though pretty wedding at Mountain View, Dec. 26th when Miss Sadie Lonise, the sweet and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Coleman became the bride of Mr. Paul Warren. The ushers were Messrs. Hubard Coleman, C. S. McDearmon, C. A. Warren, and Ben C. Ivs The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. George Coleman, Jr. and the ceremony was performed in a most beautiful and impressive manner by Rev. W. E. Warren, father of the groom.

Miss Sadie has been a successful and popular teacher for five years in the public schools of the county and has many warm friends. The groom is a valued employee of the N. & W.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left on the early train for a visit to the groom's parents at Jarratts, Va. They will be at home in Roanoke after January 6th.

CALDWELL—BROWNING.

A very beautiful wedding took place in Liberty Baptist church, Appomattox, Va. Thursday at noon, December 20th., when Miss Bertha Ursula Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Caldwell, was united in marriage to Mr. William Daniel Browning, of Richmond, Va., the Rev. G. S. Kennard officiating

The Christmas season played its part in the decoration of the church, the altar being covered in white on which there were arches trimmed in spruce pine and cedar covered with white carnations, under which hung large white fancy bells in wreaths of smilax and carnations.

This back ground contrasted beautifully with the white gowns of the maids and attendants.

The bride who is tall and fair, was handsomely attired in white broad cloth, with white picture hat, and long feather boa. She carried a shower boquet of sweet peas. She was attended by her sister Miss Clara Caldwell, first maid of honor, who wore white net over taffeta, and carried bride's roses. Then followed the second maid-of-honor, the sister of the groom, with the third maid, Miss Marion Newman, of Trenton, Va., both wearing white point d'esprit over taffeta, carrying bride's roses. The two matron-of-honor, were R. L. Havenck, of Washington, sister of the bride, attired in white crepe de chine, carrying white roses, and Mrs. Charrie Kellam, of Richmond, wearing hand made lace over white satin, carrying bride's roses. Mr. A. M Pullen, of Richmond acted as best man. The little flower girls were Misses Cecile Traylor, of Newport News, niece of the groom, and Bonnie Purbush, of Spout Spring, cousin of the bride, both dressed in white radis silk, and bearing a mixture of flowers and little white bells. The other attendants carrying fancy white bells, tongued with ribbon, were Miss Mary Caldwell with Robert Harvey; Miss Mary Moseley, Eagle Rock, with Aubrey Browning; Miss Mary rer Smith with Caleb Harvey; Miss Mary Harvey with R. E. Caldwell; Miss Margaret Marshall, Charlottesville, with Nathan Hancock; Miss Elizabeth Burke with T. C. Brown, Richmond. These were preceded by ten young ladies wearing white chiffon dresses and crowns of flowers, bearing lighted candles in beautiful holders: Misses Josephene Browning, Rocky Mount, Va., Sallie Goff, Lucy Gills, Saphronia Simms, Lula Irby, Mary Paris, Lena Purdum, Mary W. Caldwell, Kate Cheatham and Fannie Cument. F. L. Browning, L. F. Ferguson John Goff, and Chas. Whitaker were ushers.

As the bridal party entered Mrs. J. R. Atwood played Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's marches, and during the ceremony the little ballad, "Will you love me in December as you do in May."

Mr. and Mrs. Browning left on midday train for a northern trip—the bride's traveling suit was blue velvet, with hat to match. The bride has won a reputation in musical circles of Columbia and Edgefield, S.C. also at Charlottesville by her talent in instrumental and vocal music.

The groom is well known here and in Richmond, where he is connected with Mr. W. J Payne, the street railway magnate of Richmond. Mr. Browning is also treasurer of the Southern Ice Corporation of that city, and has won great respect from all associated with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Browning received a large number of costly and handsome presents, one among them being a large silver service, the gift of the best man.

After their trip, they will live at 10 South First Street, Richmond, Va.

Rosser—Swan.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place at the home of Capt. and Mrs. A. S. Swan on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when a host of friends assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Estelle Swan to Mr. Charlie Calvin Rosser. The rooms were beautifully decorated with cedar and roses with the Xmas. regalia of holly and mistletoe predominating, over which shaded lamps shed a soft glow.

To the strains of the wedding march, sweetly rendered by Miss Georgia Coleman, the bridal party entered the parlor. Little Miss Annie Fore entered first bearing the license upon a silver waiter. She was followed by Miss Jennie Swan, maid of honor and Mr. Harry Davis, best man; next came the bride, leaning upon the arm of the groom. Little Annie was met underneath the lovely arch by the Rev. Dr. Winn, pas or of the bride, to whom she presented her charge in a most becoming manner, then took her stand by his side.

Dr. Winn performed, in his own inimitable way, the beautiful and appropriate ceremony, of which each word seemed "weighed in its balance."

The bride was handsomely gowned in off gray silk trimmed with chiffon and wild rose medalions, with white hat and gloves.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, accompanied by many of their friends drove to the station, where the bride and groom, and maid of honor boarded the westbound train for Lynchburg where an elegant supper was given them by the groom's parents.

The bride's travelling costume was of two-tone gray plaid with gloves to match and red velvet hat.

The numerous and handsome presents are an evidence of the popularity of both.

They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Bent Creek.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: The year of 1906 is now fast drawing to a close and ere you go to press again it will be numbered with the past. This world is beautiful. Who of us that have gazed at the horizon, at the setting of the sun, have not been filled with wonder at the beauty which the Creator has provided for us here, but so few really know how to appreciate the many blessings that our heavenly Father has endowed us with, but go on revelling in mirth and slandering our fellow creatures and make no preparation for an eternity that is to come. Oh, that all of us would make some New Year resolutions to be more prayerful in the future.

I noticed in your last issue that our Congressman corrected a mistake that I made in regard to his being employed by the C. & O. Co. As I was mistaken I apologize for the error and I think now that the bridge question will be agitated again and we hope to have considerable help from the Hon. H. D., as we feel satisfied that he will be considerably interested in anything that is of such vital importance to Appomattox county. The river here is lower now than it usually is at this time of the year and the ferry boat sometimes strikes a rock and will stay there for more than an hour and this is very annoying to those who happen to be in the boat or awaiting their turn to cross.

The storehouse of T. H. Marks & Co., of this place, was broken into last Sunday between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., and about $20 was taken from the cash drawer The robbery was no doubt planned beforehand. The thief went into the basement and went up through the floor.

A gentleman crossing the river there last summer on Sunday saw two boys playing cards on the Island in the middle of the river and asked the question "why do they go there?" and the answer was they were afraid Mr. Walton would catch them. Now we think it would be a good plan if Mr. Walton or some other officer of the law would come in disguise and look around a bit, as it's rather cold for the Island now.

Mrs. R. M. Brown, of Oak Ridge, spent last Sunday and Monday at the home of Mrs. Mary A. Dixon. She is considered to be something better at this writing.

T. H. Marks, our rural carrier, is sick at this writing. We hope he may soon be out again.

[Reached us too late for Christmas is ue.]
